

- Fermi surface volume does not count all electrons.
- Such a phase must have low energy collective gauge excitations (“topological” order).
- These low energy gauge excitations are needed to account for the deficit in the Fermi surface volume, in M. Oshikawa’s proof of the Luttinger theorem.